Michael Leen paintings make permanent debut at new Trump Tower in New York

New York, NY, May 8th, 2008: Manhattan based Contempo Gallery sold a Michael Leen triptych oil painting totaling over 15ft wide x 9ft tall to the Trump organization. The artwork is now permanently installed in the lobby of the new luxury Trump Tower at City Center located in White Plains New York.

Leen's "The Dance" oil on canvas three part painting is the centerpiece for Donald Trump's new 35 story luxury condominium tower. Leen's paintings are the focus point to the entrance of the 212 $3 million luxury residences. The artwork has attracted much attention with its dancing twin stick figures boldly contrasted with textured variants of red and white. The setting is a masterpiece in itself. The floors of the new lobby are stripes of Cerna Marfil and St. Germain polished marble and the walls are clad in 40ft high distinctive finely polished wood paneling.

Mr. Leen is honored to be chosen as the exclusive artist to represent the new bold look for Donald Trump hottest new property. "This installation is my largest to date. My work has always been about creativity, style and proportion. I am honored the Trump organization has given me the venue that affords me the scope, visibility and modern environment to show off my latest, and largest treasured creation." states Leen.
